

Merry and Durkee - where socially conscious British slam poetry meets groovalicious Canadian acoustic guitar

What are we all about?

This is about making music that matters to us. Giving voice to the greatest fears and joys of being human at this time on the planet. We want our songs to be alive, awakening, uplifting, participative, reflective, full of heart and clarity - we want to be provocateurs of meaningful conversation and evocateurs of the best in all of us. We're not going to die saying we didn't give it a go.

A music that brings people together - gives voice to a movement in all of us that does not make the media. This is a call to arts, when the world is being called to arms.

An album full of rhyming for reason and tight, groovy music. Supported by a booklet with positive stories of people on the front line of social change from all over the world.

*Coming out in September 2008
- stay tuned!*

